The image shows an open binder with a blue cover. The left page features a grid of stamps, some of which are partially obscured by a white sheet of paper. The right page is filled with various stamps, including a row of red stamps at the top, a row of green stamps in the middle, and a row of blue stamps at the bottom. There are also several larger, more detailed stamps scattered across the page. The binder is open, and the pages are visible.

A close-up photograph of a person's hand using a metal tool to separate stamps from a dark album page. The stamps are arranged in a grid pattern. The top row consists of six blue stamps, each featuring an eagle emblem. Below this, there are two rows of red stamps, also featuring an eagle emblem. The hand is positioned on the right side of the frame, and the metal tool is being used to lift one of the stamps. The background is dark, and the lighting is focused on the stamps and the hand.

U. S. S. S. A.

"I HAVE FOUND IT!"

However - this is not an IPI T-1, nor is it an IPI of the Type II.

This cancellation is definitely a
T. I. stamp, having the character-

U.S.S.R.A.

"I HAVE FOUND IT!"

However - this is not an EPW T-2, nor is it an EPW of the Type II.

This cancellation is definitely a T. It is unusual, having the horizontal script of that very thin line while the rest of the cancellation is with the three combined vertical, U.S. Post Office, and with abbreviated date '42.
