An open stamp album is shown against a black background. The album is open to two pages, both of which are filled with red postage stamps. The stamps are arranged in neat rows. On the left page, there are approximately 15 stamps in a single row at the top, followed by a gap, and then another row of about 15 stamps at the bottom. A single, larger, light-colored stamp is placed in the upper right corner of the left page. The right page is densely packed with stamps, arranged in about 10 rows of roughly 10 stamps each. A person's hand is visible at the bottom right, appearing to be in the process of placing or adjusting a stamp. The album's binding is visible in the center, and the edges of the pages are slightly yellowed.
