A close-up photograph of a person's hand sorting through a collection of Japanese postcards and envelopes on a dark surface. The hand, wearing a silver metal watch, is positioned in the lower right, reaching towards a stack of items. Scattered around are several postcards: one with a woman in a kimono, one with a woman's face, one with a colorful scene, one with a red and white design, and one with a woman's face. There are also several envelopes, some with stamps and handwritten text, including one with the word "Japan" written on it. The background is dark, making the colorful items stand out.
